

ABSTRACT

Ulum, M. Bachrul. 2012. Designing Recreation Center of Science and Technology Demonstration in Batu

Lecturers: Aulia Fikriarini M, MT and Agus Subaqin, MT

Keywords: Recreation Center of Science and Technology Demonstration, High Tech Architecture

Recreation Center of Science and Technology Demonstration is a place that aims to introduce, enrich the knowledge, creating new things about science and technology, and foster appreciation of science and technology on society all ages by the way in easy and memorable through a variety of activities that involve a lot of interactive displays that can be used easily.

Its means of education outside of school that combining the elements of a games and science, trying to introduce science and technology to all ages, as well as motivate the youth to be creative by creating new things related to science and technology that aims to improve the quality of its nation.

The theme is taken is "high tech architecture". By utilizing the technology of today, gives easiness for users / visitors and can make this science center has a display to highlight the sophistication of modern technology that has the values of beauty, robustness, as well as more complex functions. As well as providing better facilities and comfortable and safe.