Writing this was triggered by a sense of curiosity about how the role of economic change the lives of family members affected by the tsunami in sakinah family formation, as for the meaning of the changes is the changing role of breadwinner who is accompanied by changes in the economy results in the family.

The purpose of this cursory want to know how far understanding of tsunami victim's family members about family sakinah, the second to find out how much change the economic role of the tsunami victims, while the third one to know how much effort the members of the victims of the tsunami to realize sakinah family.

Method used in this study used a qualitative descriptive study, which sought to tell everything as it is inherent in the formulation of the problem.

View of the tsunami victims' families about sakinah family as an intact family, both in terms of material and financial as well as in it appears the nature of mutual understanding, and nature gives confidence in a family.

A change in the economic role of the tsunami victims' families, because of several things. Among them 1. due to an economic needs so that makes life in the family help each other, 2. due to the awareness within a family so that within the family occurred reciprocal relationship between husband and wife.

The efforts made in the tsunami-affected families in realizing sakinah family by growing mutual openness between families by way of mutual understanding, good communication in decision-making or in everyday life.
