Key Words: Dynamics acceptance, Schizophrenia, Family

All people have right to grow and develop in condusive environment including Schizophrenia suffer. Howerver, it is not always true in the real life. In some places, people with Schizophrenia tend to be discriminalized because they are assumed as a disgrace thing. It even worse when their family also deny their presence. Hence, the deviation act inside the family contribute to another decease.

Here the reseracher try to draw such dynamics situation by combining some scholars opinion and theories that are relevant to this case. Further, this qualitative research utilizes case study of explorative design. This case is held in Suruh village, Sukodono, Sidoarjo. It contains of three subject of the study.

Based on the finding, the researcher found some facts. The family of Schizophrenia suffer feel deeply sad. However, today they can accept such condition. It makes them accustomed to this decease that recently remain happens.

In sum, the family are shocking, unbelieve, sad, concerned, feeeling guilty, ashamed, anger, and resignation when they see that their children get Schizophrenia. The family eventually merely able to support them, proud of, and appreciate. Nevertheless, there is no specific treatment in caring those Schizophrenia suffers. Whereas, psychology treatment is very necessitated to encourage their growth and development.
