Marriage is the beginning of a family in which a man and woman are legally married according to religious and State to establish a happy family and create next generation which is devout to their religion and country. Every religion has its own rules and efforts in any case including marriage field. Similarly, in Islam and Catholicism also arrange the marriage rule which usually conducted by Ustadzah (in Islam) and Nuns (in Catholic) in order to create a happy family.

The research problems of this research are how the marriage concept according to Ustadzah and Nuns and how the exemplary efforts which conducted by Ustadzah and Nuns in guiding married couples to be a happy family.

The aims of this research are to understand the meaning of marriage concept in the view of Ustadzah and Nuns and to know the exemplary efforts which conducted by Ustadzah and Nuns in guiding married couples to be a happy family.

This research is empirical research which used qualitative approach to compare the comparative view between Ustadzah and Nun in the marriage field. The data of this research are taken from observation and interview with informants. Then, this research also supported by secondary data sources in analyzing the results of the research.

To sum up, the comparison in the view of Ustadzah (Islam) and Nuns (Catholicism) in the marriage field have nearly similar rule where marriage must be legalized according to religious. Even, they have different perspective in guiding married couples to be a prosperous family (happy family) but they have a similar goal, which is a marriage can be preserved with responsibilities as well as possible to create a better generation according to religion and State.
