

ABSTRACT

Kurnia, Riana Afliha Eka, 08220013, Sale and Purchase Technopreneurship Models with Islamic Law Perspective, Thesis, Department of Shariah Business Law, Sharia Faculty, The State Islamic University (UIN) Maulana Malik Ibrahim Malang, Supervising: Dr. Sudirman, M. A.

Keywords: Youth, Technology, Entrepreneurial, Islamic Law

The use of internet among students vary one of them is the use of social networking sites available on the Internet network for entrepreneurs, such as Facebook, Twitter, Kaskus and Blogspot, known as Technopreneurship. Technopreneurship is worth to observe from the angel of Islamic law. In Islamic law, buying and selling activities not only bring financial gain, but it must also be based on the pillars and conditions that have been determined to avoid loss in one or both parties who make agreement.

In this study, the problem, are: 1) What is the impact of the development and sale of Technopreneurship models? 2) How does Islamic law view the sale and purchase of the Technopreneurship models?

This study is normative research. The study also called a research library or library research. This study, examines the general principles of law. The approach is analytical normative juridical approach. This type of approach used in this study is a conceptual approach.

The results indicate that during the year 2010 to 2011, many young entrepreneurs make personal accounts or groups that serve as on-line stores, such as distro, accesoris, catering on-line, and clothes. Technopreneurship activities are allowed because whatever the model of transaction in the Qur'an and Hadith as long as the requirements are fulfilled. Some of them are the agreements between two parties, the possibility to hand goods over, and the promisery benefits.